

Rigby Cooke Lawyers Appoints new Managing Partner

Melbourne, 1 March 2011: Rigby Cooke Lawyers has appointed Senior Commercial Partner David Lawson as their new Managing Partner, effective March 2011.

With his combination of commercial acumen and leadership, David will focus on strengthening and expanding the firm's position in Victoria across the key practices areas of commercial law, litigation, property, planning and construction & major projects.

"It is my privilege to lead a firm that has such a long and proud history of providing legal services in Victoria, said David Lawson. As Managing Partner, I see my role as capitalizing on the great legal talent we have to ensure we provide the best service possible to clients; while maintaining an environment that supports and encourages staff and makes the firm a great place to work."

Rigby Cooke Lawyers is full service Victorian commercial law firm providing specialist legal advice, supported by in-depth industry knowledge to public and private sector clients across Australia