Alexander Uskhopov is a Lawyer in our Customs & Trade team and member of our Manufacturing and Transport & Logistics industry groups.

He advises on all aspects of trade and customs law, regularly working with importers, exporters, licensed customs brokers, freight forwarders, marine insurers, Australian manufacturers, and other industry parties to provide them with procedural and legal advice, including reviews and litigious matters.

Alexander represents his clients' best interests during inquiries or investigations by government agencies, in matters involving dumping and alleged underpayments of customs duty, breaches of licence conditions by service providers, biosecurity and defence control issues along with any associated litigation.

He frequently advises overseas clients based in North America, Europe and Asia on matters relating to import and export controls, sanctions, international trade conventions, free trade agreements, anti-dumping and countervailing duties and international trade disputes.

In addition to his legal expertise, Alexander also has experience working in various Federal Government positions, both at the Federal Parliament of Australia and in international trade remedies working at Australia's Anti-Dumping Commission (ADC).

Fluent in Mandarin Chinese and Russian, Alexander uses his language skills to provide advice to non-English speaking clients and review foreign language legal and commercial documents.
